NEW QUESTION: 1

A Cloud Pod Architecture environment has datacenters in New York and Los Angeles. Users have a Global Home Site configured for the datacenter geographically closest to their home office. When users travel, they connect to the VPN for the datacenter closest to their current geographic location.

When users log into Horizon to access their desktops, which statement is correct regarding the desktop they will connect to?

A. Users will always be connected to a desktop in their Global Home Site. If no desktops are available in that site, users will receive a message stating no desktop resources are available.

B. Users will be connected to a desktop in the site configured for the security group of which they are a member. If no desktops are available in that site, one will be provided from their Global Home Site.

C. Users will be connected to a desktop in their Global Home Site. If none are available, users will be connected to a desktop in the other site.

D. Users will be connected to an entitled desktop in the site for the VPN they selected, if one is available.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 2

Which statement about RSVP is true?

A. If the RSVP agent cannot reserve the required bandwidth on first effort, it enables low latency queuing and tries to connect the call again.

B. Cisco Unified Communications Manager uses the RSVP-configured bandwidth between sites as a method of determining if there is sufficient bandwidth for the call.

C. Cisco Unified Communications Manager uses an RSVP-enabled infrastructure and an RSVP-controlled agent to request a bandwidth reservation from the network in order to place a call.

D. MTP is typically used for RSVP agent configuration.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 3

Which statement is true regarding Transparent mode configuration on Cisco ASA firewall running version 9.x?

A. Networks connected with the ASA data interfaces must be in different subnets for the traffic to flow.

B. Default route defined on the ASA is only for the management traffic return path.

C. Bridge Groups are not supported in Transparent mode.

D. Management interface does not update the MAC address table.

E. You need to make management interface of the ASA as the next-hop for the connected devices to establish reachability across the ASA.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Transparent Firewall Guidelines

- In transparent firewall mode, the management interface updates the MAC address table in the same manner as a data interface; therefore you should not connect both a management and a data interface to the same switch unless you configure one of the switch ports as a routed port (by default Cisco Catalyst switches share a MAC address for all VLAN switch ports). Otherwise, if traffic arrives on the management interface from the physically-connected switch, then the ASA updates the MAC address table to use the management interface to access the switch, instead of the data interface. This action causes a temporary traffic interruption; the ASA will not re-update the MAC address table for packets from the switch to the data interface for at least 30 seconds for security reasons.

- Each directly-connected network must be on the same subnet.
- Do not specify the bridge group management IP address as the default gateway for connected devices; devices need to specify the router on the other side of the ASA as the default gateway.
- The default route for the transparent firewall, which is required to provide a return path for management traffic, is only applied to management traffic from one bridge group network. This is because the default route specifies an interface in the bridge group as well as the router IP address on the bridge group network, and you can only define one default route. If you have management traffic from more than one bridge group network, you need to specify a static route that identifies the network from which you expect management traffic.
