Explanation

The NetScaler MAS server sends an Internet Control Message Protocol (ICMP) ping to locate the instance.

Then, it uses the instance profile details to log on to the instance. Using a NetScaler NITRO call, NetScaler MAS retrieves the license information of the instance. On the basis of the licensing information, it determines whether the instance is a NetScaler instance and the type of NetScaler platform (for example, NetScaler MPX, NetScaler VPX, NetScaler SDX, or NetScaler Gateway). On successful detection of the NetScaler instance, it is added to the NetScaler MAS server's database.
