NEW QUESTION: 1

Your network consists of one Active directory domain. The functional level of the domain is Windows Server 2008 R2. You have one organizational unit (OU) named AllUsers that contains all user accounts for the domain.

Your company has two departments named Sales and Engineering. Each department has a department manager. Each department has a global security group that contains all department users. You need to prepare the environment to manage all user accounts.

The solution must meet the following requirements:

- Sales department users must be required to reset their passwords every 30 days.
- Department managers must administer only users in their respective departments.
- Engineering department users must be required to reset their passwords every 45 days.

The solution must be achieved by using the minimum amount of administrative effort.

What should you do?

A. Create a new OU for each department. Delegate administration to the department manager of each OU. Create a new password policy for each global security group.

B. Create a child domain for each department. Delegate administration to the department manager of each domain. Create a new password policy for each domain.

C. Delegate administration of the AllUsers OU to the department manager of each department. Modify the password policy for the domain.

D. Create a new OU for each department. Delegate administration to the department manager of each new OU. Create a new Group Policy object. Configure the password policy for the new GPO and link it to the OUs.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference: To ensure that the department managers must be allowed to manage the user accounts of only their departments, you need to create a new OU for each department and delegate administration to the department manager of each OU. To ensure that the users of both Sales and Development departments must change their passwords after the interval of 30 days and 45 days respectively, you need to create a new password policy for each global security group. The organizations that want different password and account lockout settings for different sets of users need to use fine-grained password policies. These policies cannot be applied to an organizational unit (OU) directly. To apply fine-grained password policy to users of an OU, you can use a shadow group, which is a global security group.
