NEW QUESTION: 3

You are configuring HP Integrity Virtual Machines on an HP Integrity BL8x0c i2 blade server system based on the Intel Itanium processor 9300 series. You plan to use the default 10 Gb Ethernet adapters with jumbo frame support. Which memory sizing rule must be used for the HPUX guest OS?

- A. The memory required for the 10 GbE adapter is not enough to require consideration
- B. Minimum memory size is based on CPU allocations
- C. Add an additional 1 GB of memory per 10 GbE networks port
- D. Use the maximum I/O per second multiplied by the total virtual machine memory allocated

Answer: C

Explanation:

<http://bizsupport2.austin.hp.com/bc/docs/support/SupportManual/c02157777/c02157777.pdf> Pages 12 & 13

For most Integrity systems, the memory required for I/O adapters is negligible. One exception is the HP Integrity BL8x0c i2 Server Blade system - based on the Intel Itanium processor 9300 series. The 10GbE (10GigE) network ports on BL8x0c i2 server blades require an additional 500MB of memory per 10GbE network port when they are configured for Flex 10 or jumbo frames. If these ports have both Flex 10 and jumbo frames enabled, then the additional memory requirement is 1GB per 10GbE network port. Refer to latest memory subsystem documentation for changes to these requirements.
