Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

In current versions of QRadar you can set custom retention buckets for Events and Flows. The 10 non-default retention buckets are processed sequentially from top to bottom. Any events that do not match the retention buckets are automatically placed in the default retention bucket, located at the bottom of the list. Custom retention buckets allow the ability to add a time period and filters. If you enable a retention bucket with a defined criteria it will start deleting data from the time it was created. Any data that matches the custom retention bucket before it was created is subject to the criteria of the default retention bucket setting. If you need to delete data from before the Custom retention bucket was created you can shorten the default retention bucket so data is deleted immediately.
